

RevealPro combines RevealPrint® imaging technology and a synthetic face stock. It provides exceptional resistance to heat, cold, UV light, water and most chemicals including alcohol. Not only will RevealPro outlast traditional synthetic direct thermal labels, it's durability is comparable to thermal transfer BOPP labels and a wax/resin ribbon.

The product is BPA/BPS and leuco dye free and made in the USA. Produced without harmful direct thermal chemicals not only means a human health and environmentally friendly product, it also results in an innovative way to image direct thermal labels without the durability concerns of traditional thermal chemistry.

RevealPro is produced with fade resistant pigments meaning it will last over 18 months outdoors and for years indoors. As with our standard RevealPrint labels, RevealPro allows for on-demand imaging in intense black or up to eight colors. RevealPro can be printed with traditional flexo inks as well as water-based ink jet inks making it one of the most versatile direct thermal products available today.
